HUNDRED HILLS

OXFORD ENGLAND

In 2009, Fiona and Stephen Duckett set out to find the perfect chalk valley vineyard site in southern England. After three years of searching, taking soil samples and conducting climate modelling in over 100 locations, they discovered the virgin soils at the head of the beautiful Stonor Valley in the Chiltern Hills, in a tranquil corner of the Oxfordshire countryside.

Hundred Hills is located just eighteen miles from The Nut Tree Inn and with 42-acres of vineyards and a boutique winery Hundred Hills look to create outstanding English sparkling wines vintage after vintage. In addition to having perfect chalky soils, Hundred Hills provides a sheltered dry valley, with steep slopes to let spring frosts drain away and to amplify the summer sunshine. Temperatures at Hundred Hills today are almost identical to those seen in Champagne forty years ago and the team have been focused on sustainable viticulture from the outset. Winemaking is minimalist in style, relying on simply expressing the wonderfully ripe, high-quality wine grapes produced in the vineyards and all the wines are suitable for vegans. Above all it is the day-by-day attention to detail, as well as outstanding geography, soils and climate that ultimately produces these memorable wines.

These wines look to express the very ripest parcel of Pinot Noir grapes at Hundred Hills in any given vintage with just a little Chardonnay to bring liveliness on the palate. Rich in colour, fruit and texture with layers of orange citrus and orchard fruits along with plenty of ripe peach, yellow plum and nectarine. These intense fruits are balanced by an underlying mouth-watering acidity, a soft luxuriant mousse and hints of almond patisserie.

Hundred Hills Rosé

Each Hundred Hills Rosé has the familiar hue of bright pink roses in the glass with aromatics that suggest soft English summer berry fruits. Hundred Hills look to create a refreshing, elegant and mineral style of English Rosé brimming with wild strawberry notes, raspberries, red plum and cassis.

Hundred Hills Blanc de Blancs

The iconic Hundred Hills Blanc de Blancs is crafted from their single south-facing Hill Top Chardonnay parcel, planted on the thinnest soils in the vineyard with the vine's roots growing directly into the deep chalk below. Intense, chalky, mineral aromas lead into crystalline layers of ripe lemon, lime and yuzu on the palate. As the wine opens in the glass plush greengage and white peach notes are revealed alongside a delicate touch of vanilla and toasted hazelnuts from gentle ageing in Burgundian oak casks.

Rosé de Saignée

This deep hued Rosé de Saignée is a wine like no other and perhaps the purest expression of English Pinot Noir to date. Created from a hand selection of the ripest bunch per vine of east-facing Pinot Noir with the deepest and softest tannins, the resulting wine is crimson hued and intense with terrific depth. Herbaceous notes of peppermint and eucalyptus sit atop intense layers of wild strawberries, pomegranate, blood orange and black cherry. Spicy pepper notes and a delicate smokiness linger, long after the wine is gone. One of only 600 bottles produced, this Rosé sits easily alongside the perfect food pairings at The Nut Tree.
